QUESTION:

The American Promise

What could be better than a literacy program that teaches civics?

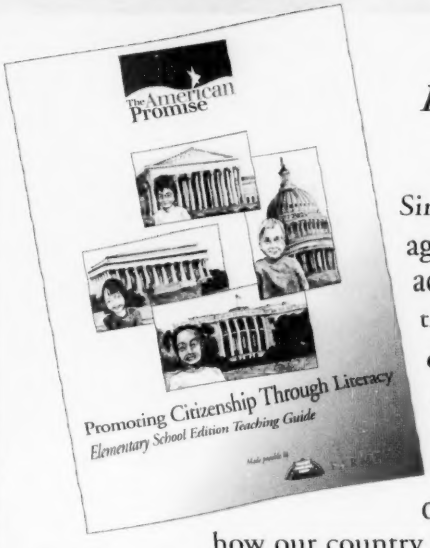
ANSWER: It's FREE.



Welcome to The American Promise
Promoting Citizenship Through Literacy
our elementary school edition.

Since The American Promise debuted almost nine years ago on public television, the series, along with its accompanying lesson plans, has helped tens of thousands of dedicated educators like you open the doors to understanding democracy for millions of students. The original lesson plans were designed for use by middle and high school teachers. Now, our long-awaited elementary version is available. And not only is our K-5 lesson plan a great tool for explaining how our country works, but all of the lesson plans in Promoting Citizenship Through Literacy adhere to the national and state literacy standards.

Like the original materials, the videos (or DVD if you prefer) and lesson plans are free due to a generous grant from Farmers Insurance.

Visit www.americanpromise.com to order your free materials today.
